Dear Laura,

Our theatre club is performing a play on Tuesday afternoon, 29th December in the conference room. It is between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. You know you are my best friend. No matter what I do, you are always with me. I'm so excited because it is the first time to perform a play on the stage. So, if you can come and watch me, this would encourage me.

Our play is one of the most famous theatre plays "Romeo and Juliet" written by William Shakespeare. I guess you know it more or less. I'll act out the starring character, "Juliet". That's why I really want you to see me on the stage.

Best Regards,

Hello! We, as a voice of youth channel, got lots of questions from our followers about friendship. So, we interviewed an expert and asked him to answer our questions. Below you can find the interview.

Voice of youth team: Hi, Mr. White. How can you explain the terms, friend and friendship?

Mr. White: Basically, a friend is someone who you like or know and the relationship with that person is called friendship.

Voice of youth team: OK. What kind of friends do we have in our lives?

Mr. White: There are two types; good and bad / toxic friends.

Voice of youth team: Who is in the category of good ones?

Mr. White: To call someone as a good friend, s/he needs to have some characteristics. Being reliable, honest, helpful, trustworthy, generous, tactful, caring, loyal, supportive are some of them. Mr. White: It's not a pleasant topic to talk, but it is real. Sharing secrets, behaving badly or rude, being selfish, making fun of you, aggression, bringing drama, not respecting, talking behind your back etc... are the signs of a bad friend. If you see one or more of them, you should reconsider and take the necessary actions. Unlike good friends, they affect us negatively. Everything may become worse and worse.

On Mondays, I do basketball trainings. It starts at 4 p.m. and lasts until 7 p.m. It's really heavy. As I'm a school team player, I have to do that. When I come back, I become really tired, but it is OK. On Tuesdays, the most enjoyable activity comes. It's hanging out with friends. When we come together, there aren't any certain things to do. We do whatever we want. Riding bikes, walking in nature or just sitting anywhere and chatting are a few examples. Being and spending time with them is never boring. Wednesday is our movie day. Every week we get together at one of our houses and watch a movie. On Thursdays, again it's basketball training. On Fridays, I take karate classes. I'm not good at it, it is just my hobby. Martial arts always seem attractive to me. Now it's time to talk about my favourite days of the week. On Saturdays, my sister and I go swimming.
